
Dropshipping or Light Bulk?

Posted by azels - 2008/03/26 00:17

I tried selling in ebay physical products through dropship method, it's cool at first coz there's no physical inventory on my part. The problem though is I've got too many complaints as the products often damaged if not wrong items.

I'm thinking of just buying products in light bulk to somehow minimize the cost in shipping and avail small discounts. Do you think it's a wise decision?

I would appreciate if anybody can give me some insight on these.

Thanks in advance. :)

Azels

Re:Dropshipping or Light Bulk?

Posted by gama - 2008/04/02 00:02

Well, you can import directly from China like few pieces of items but you gotta be carefull on whom you are dealing with... I'll be putting a link here on the future on where to import directly from the suppliers or manufacturers in China.

I have few contacts actually in China but the problem is I'm not too crazy with physical products as I don't have much space to stock them. But if any of you really interested in importing products from China you can PM me anytime.

Re:Dropshipping or Light Bulk?

Posted by freehunter - 2008/04/13 22:59

Hi gama,

I'm interested to sell physical products, could you please help me I'll send you PM.

Thanks so much.

Re:Dropshipping or Light Bulk?

Posted by moneyman - 2009/01/10 03:02

Hey Freehunter,

Have you check Drop Ship Design yet? They're good suppliers also, how do i know? coz I already tried it infact one of my website is using thier products.. Here Check It Out Here

You can also try World Wide Brand web based sourcing platform it is very effective also, how do i know? I'm using it as well... Check It Out Here

Hope it helps and i know it will... Take care...:cheer:

freehunter wrote:

Hi gama,

I'm interested to sell physical products, could you please help me I'll send you PM.

Thanks so much.

